PRICE THREE CENTS.

SHOT BY AN ANARCHIST

Senor Canovas, Premier of Spain, Assassinated.

"LONG LIVE SPAIN," CRIED HE

Probable Effect of the Statesman's Death Upon the Independence of Cuba. Full Details of the Sensational Affair.

Washington, Aug. 9.—A. A. Guira, who is stopping in Washington, said: "The assassination of Canovas will result in the detachment of the Spanish monarchy and the freedom of Cuba. The people of Spain are ripe for a revolution, being discontented over the high taxation which grinds them down to poverty and in some cases to starvation. This is the beginning of the revolutionary movement and is connected with the recent attempt on the life of the queen."

"There is great dissatisfaction over the result of the war in Cuba, and to remove Canovas was the object of well laid plans. He was the supporter of Weyler, who was sent to Cuba by him and kept there by him. The two divided the spoils of Cuba and of Spain."

SPANISH STATESMAN KILLED.

Senor Canovas del Castillo Assassinated by an Anarchist.

Madrid, Aug. 9.—Senor Canovas del Castillo, prime minister of Spain, was assassinated at Santa Agueda by an anarchist. The murderer fired three shots, one of which struck the premier in the forehead, and another in the chest.

The wounded man fell dying at the feet of his wife, who was with him. Lying in agony for an hour and then passing away with the cry of "Long live Spain," which were the last words upon his lips.

Santa Agueda is noted for its baths. The place is between San Sebastian, the summer residence of the Spanish court, and Victoria, the capital of the province of Alava, about 30 miles south of Bilbao.

The premier went there last Thursday to take a three weeks' course of the baths, after which he expected to return to San Sebastian to meet United States Minister Woodford, whom that gentleman should be officially received by the queen regent.

The assassin was immediately arrested. He is a Neapolitan and gives the name of Rinaldi, but it is believed that this is an assumed name and that his real name is Angino Goni.

At a special meeting of the cabinet, under the presidency of Senor Canovas, minister of the interior, the latter announced that he had been entrusted by the queen regent with the premiership ad interim.

The health of Senor Canovas had improved greatly of late. He had been leading a very quiet life, although he attended to the business of state.

At the moment of the assassination he was waiting in the gallery of the bathing establishment for his wife, who was to join him for lunch. Suddenly the assassin, who had the appearance of an ordinary visitor, approached and fired at him point blank, one bullet passing through the body and coming out behind under the left shoulder, and the other two lodging in the head. He fell instantly and only recovered consciousness long enough to speak a few words.

WILL HELP THE CAUSE.

Agramonte Discusses the Death of Canovas From Cuban Standpoint.

New York, Aug. 9.—Emilio Agramonte, president of the Jose Marti charity organization of this city, heard the news of the killing of Premier Canovas at his home and exclaimed: "This is truly hard to believe."

Then he said: "Sagasta, who is head of the Liberals, will surely succeed Canovas."

"And I feel certain that should Sagasta succeed Canovas, he will follow the same general policy in regard to Cuba as Canovas made every effort to do. It will doubtless be his idea to bring about a relationship between Spain and Cuba such as exists between England and Canada. But such a relationship Cuba will never accept. She must have complete and absolute independence."

"Still it is my belief that the killing of Canovas will be a great benefit for the cause of Cuba. It may even lead to independence. Independence, that is the only thing for Cuba."

"Canovas was directly responsible for the relations which existed between the United States and Spain as regards Cuba, because his instructions were so carefully followed out by Spain's representatives in Washington that President Cleveland dared not act friendly to Cuba. The death of Canovas can not but help the cause of Cuba."

Christian Alliance Meets. Cleveland, Aug. 9.—The annual meeting of the National Christian Alliance began here today between 400 and 500 persons in attendance. The session opened with prayer meeting at 9 o'clock and continued until 11 o'clock. The address was delivered by President O. M. Brown of this city. It is expected that 3,000 visitors will be present during the two weeks that the meeting continues.

VIGILANT WINS.

Great Success of the Race of the New York Yacht Club.

Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 9.—The double yacht race of the New York Yacht Club from Vineyard Haven to Mount Desert for $5,000 worth of cups, offered by Commodore J. Pierpont Morgan, was finished off Baker's Island with the skipper, Vigilant, leading the fleet of 60 sail by many miles, after a run marked throughout by smooth seas and following winds. Vigilant won the cup in the schooner class, leading Narva at the finish 50 minutes.

The race in the schooner class was much closer, and Colonia, although finishing 10 minutes ahead of Emerald, won the $2,000 cup by only 21 seconds.

The race was a thorough success. From the time the calm spot was left, two hours after the start, there was not a semblance of anything disagreeable in the entire run. The east wind came in just in time to blow the fleet clear of the dangerous Nantucket shoals before darkness settled down, and then shifting to southward and westward, not only held true and steady throughout the beautiful night, but kept up all day Sunday and never wavered until the last boat had crossed the finish line.

The great yachts of America's oldest club accomplished what has not hitherto before been attempted, of sailing all night without taking in a stitch of canvas or shortening a spar. It must be said that such a feat was due in a great measure to the surprising weather. The entire 278 miles from Pollock's lightship was sailed without a sheet or halyard being pulled.

From the start it looked like a fine race between Vigilant and Narva, Colonia and Emerald, and Wasp and Queen Mab. As it turned Vigilant had a walkover, but the race between the other two pairs was close and exciting throughout.

After establishing a lead of over a mile before getting over Nantucket shoals, Emerald gradually dropped back to her rival, until shortly before midnight the two schooners were even. From that time until within 40 miles of the finish, it was most exciting until 11 o'clock, when Colonia pulled out and led to the finish.

Vigilant crossed the line at 3:59:28, making the run from Vineyard Haven to the Point in 29 hours, 54 minutes and 51 seconds, of which time 23 hours, 14 minutes and 32 seconds were consumed in running 178 miles from Pollock's lightship.

Accidentally Shot.

Auburn, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The body of Dr. Arthur S. Kennedy was found four miles north of this city. He left home about 5 o'clock to go hunting and his death is supposed to have resulted from the accidental discharge of his gun, inflicting a wound just above the knee from which he died to death.

FOUND DEAD.

Suicide of Clark Davis While Pretending to Hunt.

McArthur, O., Aug. 9.—Clark Davis left last Thursday to go hunting with a double barrel shotgun and failed to return. A searching party found him dead, his head partly blown off.

His gun lay across his breast, the muzzle applied to his mouth. Deceased was 24 years of age. He set out with a number of young men a week ago with $75 to go to Alaska gold fields. Dependence over his failure is supposed to have led him to self-destruction. He was of a highly respected family.

UNIQUE ATTRACTIONS.

One Hundred Projects Submitted For the Paris Exposition.

Paris, Aug. 9.—A hundred projects for attractions for the Paris exposition of 1900 were submitted to the committee.

They included the building of a copy of Bartholdi's statue of Liberty in New York harbor 600 feet high, the construction of a restaurant under water to be built of glass; enormous vertical screw with a nut, fitted as a cafe; a reproduction of the Trojan horse, capable of holding 1,000 persons, and plans for fitting the Eiffel tower with a spiral railway, and a toboggan chute. The committee decided that none of the schemes were practicable.

Imperial Jollies Exchanged.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 9.—At the state banquet given by the Russian emperor and empress to Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria, Emperor Nicholas, toasting his imperial guests, said: "The presence of your majesties among us gives me very great satisfaction. I desire sincerely to thank you for the visit, which is a fresh manifestation of the traditional bonds uniting us and the good relations so happily established between our two neighboring empires. It is at the same time a precious guarantee of the maintenance of the general peace which forms the object of our constant efforts and our most fervent wishes. I drink to the health of the Emperor-King William and Empress Queen Augusta Victoria, and to the health of all the members of their august family." The compliment was soon returned by Emperor William.

Three People Burned.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Three persons, comprising the family of Peter Veth, at 221 East Huron street, were seriously burned in a fire caused by an explosion of gasoline. The injured are: Peter Veth, Mrs. Beatie Veth, his wife, Edwin Veth, a lad, 2 1/2 years. Mrs. Veth was more seriously injured than her husband and child, but will probably recover. While cleaning a bed with gasoline whose vapors filled the room, Mrs. Veth struck a match for the purpose of lighting a cigar. In an instant there was an explosion and the room was filled with flame. The flames caught the clothing of Mrs. Veth.

Week at Nashville.

Nashville, Aug. 9.—The events of this week will be in great degree of military character, the troops from north and south will camp on the military plaza; receptions, drills and social functions will be numerous and the week's diversions are to close with a monster sham battle, a thrilling event which is sure to be most attractive. The backbone of the heated time is broken, extensive and cooling rains having fallen here and all over the state.

Pants Makers Strike Ended.

New York, Aug. 9.—Peace for the first time in 10 days prevailed the headquarters of the striking pants makers, lever-rip pants makers, and knee pants makers' unions. It is expected that most of the strikers will resume work. Over 3,500 employees out of the 5,000 who went on strike are prepared to resume work under the conditions stipulated by their respective unions.

RISES TO THE SURFACE.

The River Gives Up the Body of Fireman Monaghan.

UNIFORM TORN IN SHREDS.

To All Appearances the Dead Driver Received the Full Force of the Explosion Which Wrecked the Elevator.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The dead body of Fireman Thomas Monaghan came to the surface of the river and the crew of a tug which was passing at the time towed it to the Indiana street bridge, where it was taken on shore and removed to Rolston's morgue.

The tug Frank R. Crane steamed slowly up the north branch of the river. Captain A. R. Knaggs, chief engineer of the independent tug company, and Captain John Hennessey, in charge of the tug, were standing in the bow of the boat, and both were watching the murky water intently. Near the Indiana street bridge the body of a man arose to the surface. The tug towed into the bank. A number of firemen were present and when the body was turned face upward they at once recognized the features of the chief's late driver, Thomas Monaghan. The dead river to all appearances received the full force of the explosion in the Northwestern elevator. Thursday. The body came to the surface in the middle of the river and when an examination was made of the remains it was found that both of Monaghan's legs were broken below the knee and his left arm was also broken. His uniform was torn into shreds.

Among Its Promoters Two Senators of the United States.

Paris, Aug. 9.—There has been a veritable epidemic of suicide in Paris for some weeks past, the recent tropical heat adding to the number of cases. The tragedies commenced with the self-destruction on July 7 last of four young dressmakers in the Poissonniere quarter of Paris, who suffocated themselves in a small room with the fumes of a charcoal stove after dining together.

Since then, almost daily, one or more women have committed suicide, and the self-murder of men has been equally numerous. The bodies of men are found daily hanging to trees in the Bois de Cannes. In one alley of that park alone six bodies of suicides were found during the past week, and the morgue is so full of dead bodies found in the river Seine that there is no further room for them.

THE KLONDIKE GOLD.

PROFESSOR OF GEOLOGY AT OSERLIN COLLEGE ON ITS SOURCE

The Gold Probably a Mineral in the South of the Klondike. "Mother Lode"—This Country Most Rich in the Klondike Region.

The discovery of gold in large quantities on the Yukon river, a by no means unexpected. Eleven years ago the first word I heard as I left Jackson was the pledge of a returning tourist to meet his friend the next summer and prospect in the Yukon region.

The great mass of gold bearing quartz at the Treadwell mine, near Juneau, was what might be expected, and at the same time what might be the limitation of the supply. For more than ten years that mine has furnished more than $1,000,000 of gold annually, but it is not like ordinary quartz mines. It is rather a great, isolated mass of quartz with gold disseminated all through it. While its worth is great, its length is limited.

Little is known about the geology of the Yukon river, where the Klondike mines have been found. Being placer mines, the gold may have been transported many miles. The means of transportation are both glaciers and rivers. The Klondike region is on the north side of the St. Elias Alps. Alaska has never been completely covered with glacial ice. The glaciers flowed both north and south from these summits. Dawson and Professor Russell both report well defined terminal moraines across the upper Yukon valley. The source of the Klondike gold, therefore, is from the south.

Placer mines originate in the disintegration of gold bearing quartz veins or mass like that at Juneau. Under mineral agencies these become disintegrated. Then the glaciers transport the material as far as they go, when the floods of water carry it on still farther. Gold, being heavier than the other materials associated with it, lodges in the crevasses or in the rough places at the bottom of the streams. So to speak, nature has stamped and "panned" the gravel first and prepared the way for man to finish the work. The amount of gold found in the placer mines is evidence not so much, perhaps, of a very rich vein as of the disintegration of a very large vein.

The "mother lode" has been looked for in vain in California, and perhaps will be in Alaska. But it exists somewhere up the streams on which the placer mines are found. The discovery of gold in glacial deposits far away from its native place is familiar to American geologists.

I have encountered placer mines in glacial deposits near Aurora in southwestern Indiana, in Adams county in southern Ohio and near Titusville in western Pennsylvania, where, I see, there is a new excitement. But in all these cases the gold had been brought several hundred miles by glacial ice from Canada or the region about Lake Superior. These gold mines were near the edge of the glacial region, where there had been much sorting action of both ice and water.

It is evident, however, that in Alaska the transportation of the gold has not gone so far. The difficulties of this transportation into the Klondike region and the shortness of the season will continue to be great drawbacks to working the mines. The pass north of Chitkat is 7,000 feet above sea level and but a few miles back from the ocean. There is no possibility of a road over it. But from Taku inlet, near Juneau, winter access can be had. This route was followed by Schwatka and Mr. Hayes of the United States geological survey a few years ago and has been partially surveyed with reference to a railroad line and reported to be available. The only other way is by a river which is open to navigation only a short time each year and is a great way around.

The general climatic conditions on the north side of the mountains are much better than those on the south side. On the south side the snowfall is enormous, but on the north side the air is drier. Schwatka and Hayes went in the summer down the Yukon valley about to the Klondike region, and from there struck off west, passing to the north of Mount St. Elias and down the Copper river. They had dry weather all the time, in which camping was pleasant, while Russell the same season was driven back by inclement weather from ascending St. Elias on the south side. It is therefore not impossible that explorations southwest of the present gold-fields may be carried on with comparative ease. But at present that whole region is bare of means of subsistence.

There is imminent danger that many will get in there before winter with insufficient means and starve. Eventually the remainder which Sheldon Jackson is introducing will be available both for transportation and food, being much superior to dogs in that they can procure their own food. But for the present every necessity must either be packed over the Chitkat pass or brought around by way of the Yukon.

As to the ultimate yield of the mines or the prospect of finding more, we have nothing but conjecture to go upon. The geologists who have visited the region were not the ones who discovered the gold. What the prospectors have found points to more. The unexplored region is immense. The mountains to the south are young, having been elevated very much since the climax of the glacial period. With these discoveries and the success in introducing reindeer, Alaska bids fair to support a population eventually of several millions. The United States must hold on to her treaty rights with Great Britain for the protection of our interests there. If England accomplishes her unreasonable designs, she would shut us off from all communication with the Klondike region except by way of the Yukon.—George Fred-

AN UNUSUAL GATHERING.

Five Generations in the Direct Line Met Together.

Gathered at the hospitable home of Mr. D. C. Crutcher, a widely known merchant of Frankfort, Ky., the other day were five of the "fair sex" who make up such a group and picture as is seldom seen in any state or any country. They were daughter, mother, grandmother, great-grandmother and great-great-grandmother—five generations, not of different branches, but the same branch of one family. In other words, Mrs. Crutcher had as her guests her mother and grandmother, her daughter and granddaughter. The oldest of the quintet is 87, the youngest 3.

By name they are Mrs. Amida Valandingham, Mrs. Asa P. Grover, Mrs. D. C. Crutcher, Mrs. Jesse Peak and Miss Amida Peak, the latter 3 years old and the namesake of her ancestors five generations removed, but living, present, well and happy in the possession of "these (her) jewels." Mrs. Valandingham, who has a host of relatives and descendants throughout Kentucky, makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Asa P. Grover, wife of the former Ashtand district congressman of that name, at Georgetown, and they are here on a visit to their granddaughter and daughter, Mrs. Crutcher. At the same time Mrs. Jesse Peak, also of Georgetown, with her little daughter and an older son, came to visit her mother and be with her grandmother and great-grandmother, who is the great-great-grandmother of the youngest guest of them all.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SANITARIUM FOR BABIES.

A Columbia Exposition Building Now Reopened.

La Habida, the convent building which will be remembered by all visitors to the Columbia exposition, Chicago, has just been reopened; not as a convent, however, nor as anything pertaining to conventual life. Its new office is to provide a sanitarium for babies and their tired mothers. A number of prominent philanthropic men and women are in charge of the enterprise, and it promises to become a success. The same scheme was attempted last summer, but failed, being largely in the hands of men and owing to some friction between the commissioners and the management.

This year the women have greater power, there being a board of 31 members in order that there may be a visiting member for each day of the month. The plumbing and sanitary features of the building have been put in perfect repair and the entire building adapted to the present needs. Examining room, baths, toilet rooms, a kitchen and a dining room are contained on the lower floor. In the second story are the nurses' dormitory, the apartments of the house physician, the hospital and the store-rooms. Five babies with their nurses were the occupants of the sanitarium on the day of opening. Warmer weather will probably bring hundreds of little ones, eager to make the most of so charitable an opportunity. No better or more practical use of the structure can be imagined.—New York Sun.

New Diamonds Are Formed.

Professor (Sir William) Crookes in a recent lecture expressed his opinion that Moissan, in his experiments in diamond making, has thrown much light on the way in which nature has formed these gems. In the artificial process pure iron was packed in a crucible with pure charcoal from sugar. In the electric current the iron melts rapidly and saturates itself with carbon. When heated above 4,000 degrees, the current is stopped and the crucible plunged in cold water and held until it diminishes to a dull red heat. The sudden cooling solidifies the outer layer of iron. The expansion of the inner liquid in solidifying produces an enormous pressure, and the dissolved carbon separates in a crystalline form—diamond. The metallic mass is then attacked with solvents to liberate the grains within.

Professor Crookes pointed out that the diamond of the chemist and that of the mine are akin as to origin, and that the diamond genesis must have taken place at great depths under enormous pressure. It has been proved that iron at high temperature and under heavy pressure, conditions existent at great depths below the earth's surface, is the long sought solvent for carbon.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Girl Caught Bicycle Thief.

Elizabeth Hutter, 9 years old, who is spending the summer in a cottage on West avenue, Pittman, N. J., with her parents, ran down a tramp bicycle thief the other day and recovered her wheel which he had stolen. She left the wheel standing at the gate while at dinner, and later the child of a neighbor told her that some man had taken her wheel.

Elizabeth mounted her brother's bicycle, and overtaking the tramp at the tollgate, nearly a mile from her home, she grabbed her wheel as the thief was having an argument with the tollgate keeper. He had no money with which to pay toll. The tramp was so surprised that he was only too glad to escape. The little girl is the best child rider in the place, having won two medals in the West avenue races on July 3.

X RAYS IN A NEW ROLE

A CASE IN WHICH THEY RENDERED THE SURGEON'S KNIFE USELESS.

By Their Aid a Physician Removed a Key From a Boy's Stomach Without an Incision—An Operation Which May Mark a New Era in Surgery.

Dr. A. H. Arp of Mohne, Ill., in a letter to Dr. H. B. Roberts, editor of The American X Ray Journal, gives the details of a recent operation under the fluoroscope which will revolutionize the science of surgery as applied to the removal of foreign substances in the esophagus or stomach. Since his initial experiment Dr. Arp has invented an instrument with which, under the fluoroscope, he claims that he can remove any foreign body from the stomach without the necessity of an incision with a knife. As far as the esophagus and stomach are concerned, there will never again be occasion for the surgeon's knife to remove such an obstruction as a key, piece of money or wash-bone.

Dr. Arp is one of the foremost physicians and surgeons of Illinois. His discovery has set the medical thinking, and some behold in it the stepping stone to still more marvelous feats of operation in intestinal troubles without the aid of the knife.

Dr. Roberts considers the operation the beginning of a long list of marvels which he thinks are to be accomplished under the X rays.

On June 16 a boy 5 years old was brought to Dr. Arp. He suffered from hemorrhage and after meals was seized with severe pains in the stomach—so severe that the child would refuse food for days rather than endure the torture which followed a meal. Under the fluoroscope a key was revealed lodged in the boy's stomach. Then it was remembered by his parents that he had swallowed a bookcase key 14 months previously.

On June 19 Dr. Arp resolved on a novel experiment. Under the usual method he would have found a surgical operation with the knife necessary to dislodge the key. He resolved to use no knife. The boy was rendered unconscious by anesthetics. A forceps, used for operating in the esophagus, was inserted. Under the fluoroscope the key and forceps showed out plainly in the stomach. When inserted full length, the forceps failed to reach the key by three inches. The operating table was tilted so that his head would hang downward. With his right hand Dr. Arp kneaded the stomach so that the key would be forced toward the forceps. The process had the desired effect, but caused a severe flow of blood. Bringing the key and forceps together was a difficult task, as the doctor had no control over the forceps and was compelled to force the key to it.

When clucked, the boy's position was changed to keep the blood out of the trachea. The key was then extracted, causing severe hemorrhage.

When restored to consciousness, the boy was treated to small pieces of ice and strong solution of chloride of iron, upon which all bleeding ceased. He has since recovered almost completely.

The key had corroded so that it was thin and sharp, with jagged edges like that of a saw. Unless removed it would have caused the child's death. The operation is the first of its kind on record and gives but a faint insight into the future possibilities of the X ray applied to human life.—St. Louis Republic.

Abuse of Free Dispensaries.

Much discussion has been caused of late by the alleged abuse of the privileges of the free dispensaries. Dr. George F. Shady of New York wrote recently that "fully 50 per cent of the patients who apply for free medical aid are totally undeserving of such charity. In New York alone there are 116 dispensaries, each one of which is vying with the others in propagating the worst form of pauperism. The institutions in question are all crowded daily by hundreds of well to do patients who are encouraged to defraud the really poor and to cheat the charitably disposed doctor of his legitimate fee. Charity, as applied to most of the dispensaries, is a mere name." He believes that physicians, in their desire for clinical experiences, have created a rapidly growing evil. It is proposed that a place of registration be adopted and all nonurgent cases be investigated. The emergency cases, for the first time at least, would be treated without question.

Spelling Bees to Be Revived.

Professor J. B. Taylor of Granville, O., has revived the old fashioned spelling match. Contests will be held in Fairfield, Knox, Franklin, Licking, Muskingum, Pickaway and Delaware counties at the respective county teachers' institutes. A list of 2,000 words is already in the hands of contestants. There are $1,600 worth of prizes. The winners of the county contests will have a general contest in Columbus on Sept. 25, 1897, to which ten of the winners will be awarded $50 prizes each. The committee on general contests is as follows: Fairfield, G. M. Morris, Basil; Franklin, C. L. Dickey; Worthington; Delaware, R. L. Plotner; Knox, L. B. Heuck, Mt. Vernon; Muskingum, to be chosen; Pickaway, John L. Horne, Circleville.—Exchange.

Poisoned the Watermelon Thieves.

Manuel Coleman, a negro farmer of Fairfield county, S. C., suffering from watermelon thieves, plugged some melons and injected strychnine. The plugs were replaced and the fruit ripened. The other night two negro boys were seen in Coleman's patch. They scooped and ate one of the poisoned fruit to the rind and this morning were found dead by the roadside. No legal action has been taken against Coleman.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Main St. I am able now to get about and attend to my household duties without being weighed down by the attending evils of kidney trouble. Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had lameness in my back occasionally for two years or so, and towards the latter part of the time it remained right with me and kept up a dull grinding ache day and night. I could not sleep at all if I had been engaged in any work a little harder than usual. There was too general action of the kidney secretions, and a soreness in my kidneys that I had to be most careful in going down a single step, for the least jar sent the twinges of pain through my back. I can highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills after my experience in using them, and I am willing to endorse them as a sure and honest kidney remedy."

Dingleyism is in great luck. Big harvests, an extraordinary foreign demand for grain and advancing prices have come just in the nick of time. By a merciful dispensation of Providence, the purchasing power of the agricultural communities has been increased just as the burden of higher tariff taxes has been laid upon them. Since the farmer must henceforth pay more for what he has to sell, it is fortunate that he will be able to get more for what he has to sell.

Mark Hanna, the gold bug whose property is a condition involving more empty stomachs and depleted purses than the most aggravated adversity that this great republic has ever endured, says that silver is a dead issue. Uncle Marcus will learn when the votes are counted out in November that silver is a very much alive issue and that the American people, who were so badly fooled last November, will not consent to a repetition of his gold cure treatment.

The man Hobart, who was on the Republican ticket with McKinley last November, but who relapsed into obscurity immediately after election, has again been heard from. He was a game of atropine recently while bowling with President McKinley. The public will be relieved to know that Hobart is still on earth.

TARIFF INEQUITIES—LUMBER, ETC.

One of the best features of the late tariff was schedule D—wood and manufactures of wood. It was short, because most of the items, including timber, lumber, railroad ties, hubs, laths, pickets, staves and shingles, were transferred to the free list.

It was not as good as it might have been, because it left manufactures of wood on the dutiable list, and even from the standpoint of the protectionist who pretends to offer a rational defense of his system, there is not the faintest excuse for protective duties on wood or any manufacture of wood. But the new "prosperity" law is utterly bad by comparison and in some respects worse than the McKinley law.

Timber, free under the late law, is now taxed 1 cent per cubic foot. Boards of all kinds, free under the late law, are now taxed $1 to $2 per 1,000 feet in the rough and 50 cents additional for each side dressed or planed.

And here comes in a characteristic trick to cover up from the view of the casual reader a most important increase. In the McKinley law it was provided that rough boards, etc., of hemlock, whitewood, sycamore, white pine and bass wood should be dutiable at $1 per 1,000 feet and that all sawed lumber not specially provided for should be dutiable at $2 per 1,000 feet. The new law simply drops white pine from the list of enumerated woods dutiable at $1, leaving it to fall into the category of "not specially provided for," dutiable at $2, so that the name of this most important wood is not mentioned.

Thus by a trick the servants of monopoly cover from common view the fact that they have not only taken white pine lumber from the free list, but that they have just doubled the McKinley duty on it. On pine lath and shingles they increased the duty from 25 to 50 per cent. without concealment.

As a sequel to this increase the servants of monopoly provided that if "any country or dependency [Canada] shall impose an export duty upon logs, shingle bolts, etc., or a discriminating charge on articles used in towing logs the amount of such duty or charge shall be added to the duty on lumber."

Posts and poles are taken from the free list and made dutiable at 20 per cent. Hubs, bolts and blocks of all sorts, 20 per cent. Laths, 25 cents per 1,000. Pickets, 10 per cent. Shingles, 30 cents per 1,000. Even kindling wood is taxed three-tenths of a cent per bundle not exceeding a quarter of a cubic foot in size and three-tenths of a cent for each additional quarter of a cubic foot or fractional part thereof. And tooth-picks are taxed 2 cents per 1,000 and 15 per cent. additional.

This schedule in its present form is built upon the assumption that farmers who have to buy much lumber, because they must have large barns besides houses, should pay tribute to those who supply the materials. It is built upon the assumption that those who have use for lumber and wood in other forms should be forced to pay much more for it than they would have to pay under conditions of free competition.

And the beneficiaries of this schedule are, first, men who are denuding the country of its forests and often stealing timber from the public domain; second, the owners of saw-mills, who are abundantly able to take care of themselves and are in no respect persons who should be quartered on their fellow citizens as paupers; third, planing mill owners, who, like the sawmill owners, are at least as well able to meet competition as the farmers are; fourth, manufacturers of furniture and other articles of wood who do not look at all like paupers and who do in fact compete against all comers in foreign markets, as the farmers have to do, and who do not go bankrupt in consequence.

Upon no conceivable economic theory it is possible to excuse the protection at the public expense of the men who are destroying our forests, robbing the public domain and selling their products to foreigners at lower prices than they exact from their own countrymen. The pro-parity magicians will be likely to bear from the farmers in the outcome.

THE DINGLEY TARIFF.

Conducive to the Growth of Trade and Improvement of Labor.
The McKinley administration will be known in history as the creator of an era of high prices and scarce money. These are the conditions most conducive to the growth of trusts and impoverishment of the producers of wealth.

High prices that are the result of limiting production mean low wages, for as the opportunities for limiting production are increased so also are the opportunities for controlling the price of labor increased. The Dingley bill's high wall of protection will shut the consumer out from the benefits of the world's markets and confine him to a home market constantly narrowed by the operations of the trusts which are fostered by the bill.

The prohibitive duties levied by the bill will decrease revenues from imports to the point of forcing upon congress the necessity of enlarging the list of articles upon which are now imposed internal revenue taxes. This means the increase of the price of all commodities of prime necessity without any compensating increase in the price of farm products. Internal revenue taxes do not benefit the producers of raw materials. On the contrary, they raise the price of the manufactured article which the producer has to buy. The farmer, therefore, will have double burdens of taxation placed upon him without enjoying any of the benefits of high prices which the bill will produce.

And the farmer, the artisan and the laborer will alike share the hardships of the scarcity of money which is being enhanced by the conduct of the treasury at Washington. In other words, the first five months of the McKinley administration present the gruesome prospect of unnaturally high prices for a period of four years with a constantly contracting currency. Such a combination of atrocities was never before imposed upon a free people. And over it all there is the consciousness that under this anomalous condition of affairs must ensue greater prosperity to the trusts than was ever enjoyed by those concerns.

Patriotism and firm faith in the strength of the American institutions furnish the only hope of meeting the difficulties ahead of the nation and of the ultimate triumph of a free government whose benefits are equally distributed.—St. Louis Republic.

A Dreadful Thought.

Wouldn't it be dreadful if Aldrich, Allison and some of the other smart senators had believed things so as to make Tom Reed believe he was running the tariff bill when in fact he was not interfering in the slightest with the designs and expectations of the trust?

BARONIAL PARKS.

The Extent of Some Which Surround the Houses of English Noblemen.

An article in The Cornhill Magazine on the cost of maintaining country houses contains some extremely interesting particulars about the size of noblemen's parks. One hardly likes, the writer says, to guess the cost of repairs to the loose stone wall around Badminton park, high enough to prevent a deer leaping it and inclosing 986 deer. At Welbeck there are 10½ miles of iron fencing around the three deer parks. Thoresby park is 12 miles around.

Though the deer have been removed or destroyed in no less than 50 parks since 1867 there are 404 deer parks and paddocks in England and Wales alone, and 8 of these are over 2,000 acres. Savernake is 4,000 acres. There are many over 1,000 acres. The area has an additional interest for the owner, because the bigger the park the more gates and lodges and roads it needs, and park roads, except town roads, are the dearest in this country.

In parks like Eridge, with 2,500 acres; Knowsley, 2,000 acres; Blenheim, 2,254 acres; Tatton, 2,000 acres, and others of less size, the mileage of roads, unless their numbers were kept down, would rival those of a moderate parish.

The lowest number by which a great house and its garden parks and accessories can be served and kept up is from 50 to 60 men. Of these great houses there are not less than 900 in England, Wales and Scotland. Those of the third magnitude have a minimum staff of 50 men. Those of the second magnitude, some of them very large and splendid houses, almost or quite reaching the first dimensions, employ from 90 to 150 or 175 men. Beyond these are the stars of the first magnitude, real palaces, maintaining from 200 to, in one case—not Chatsworth—more than 600 men in the performance of work, other than industrial or agricultural, in the service of the owner.

The Harrison Tomb.

Work has been begun on the reconstruction of General William H. Harrison's tomb at North Bend, Ind. The old tomb of brick has been taken down entirely and one of blue limestone built. The structure is almost four feet high—that is, four feet of it can be seen above the ground. There were eight bodies in the tomb receptacles besides the remains of General Harrison. It is the general opinion of those engaged in the work of rebuilding the tomb that one of the receptacles, which was left vacant in the reconstruction of the tomb for other members of the family, will some day contain the remains of ex-President Benjamin Harrison.—Exchange.

Fresh, ripe fruits are excellent for purifying the blood and toning up the system. As specific remedies oranges are as potent. Sour oranges are highly recommended for rheumatism.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS.

Methods That Obtained in the Early Part of the Century.

An old cookbook, printed in the year 1835 and bearing the title "The American Frugal Housewife," with a dedication "to those who are not ashamed of economy," is full of interesting reading as a comparative study in household economics. Many things were necessary to the housekeeper of 50 years ago that are unknown nowadays or have completely outlived their usefulness. It is Greek almost to the modern woman to be told that "the coverings of oil flasks, neatly sewed together with strong thread, make useful table mats," or "when a white lavenine bonnet gets soiled, rip it in pieces and wash it with soft water and, while damp, sponge it with strong, strained saffron tea, then press on the wrong side, and it will look like a new lavenine." Other cautions that are obsolete today are to "save vials and bottles," "preserve the backs of old letters to write upon," elaborate directions for making over mattresses and pillows at home, how to prevent a pump handle from freezing set in cold weather and scores of similar directions. The compiler advises, for example, that it is wise to have always the tinder box and lantern ready on going to bed in case of sudden alarm, and, after much considering, decides that "in the city it is better to exchange ashes and grease for soap, but in the country it is by far the best economy to make one's own soap," and pages of minute directions follow. So on with scores of similar directions concerning a life that had ceased to be.

The chapter devoted to simple remedies would cause the hair of the modern practitioner, steeped in the germ theory of disease, to rise upright. To prevent lockjaw, lye, a rind of pork, strong soft soap, spirits of turpentine and pulverized chalk are recommended. For throat distemper, the old name for diphtheria, a poultice of roasted apple mixed with an ounce of tobacco, the whole wet with spirits of wine and spread on a linen rag, to be bound about the throat, is a panacea. To stop the blood from a wound apply scrapings of sole leather. A spoonful of ashes stirred in cider is suggested to relieve nausea in cholera morbus. A salve to reduce inflammation in wounds is made from lard melted and cooled five times in succession, then simmered with sliced onions and once more cooled. Low blackberry tea is prescribed for colic and sore mouth. One suggestion may be of value to the modern mother. To administer a dose of castor oil to children so that they will never suspect its presence—will even love the decoction—it should be boiled with an equal quantity of sweetened milk, and, when cold, given as a drink. The actual food recipes of the book are held in a dozen pages, but there is much space devoted to herb lore, the preparations for keeping meats, the making of dyestuffs, homemade wines, beers and the like. Preserves are dismissed in a page with the laconic introduction: "Economical people will seldom use preserves except for sickness. They are unhealthy, expensive and useless to those who are well." Altogether the "Frugal Housewife" is an illuminating bit of retrospective literature.—New York Post.

An Unfair Advantage.

Dr. Lasker, the great chess player, when in London is in the habit of occasionally visiting a certain restaurant in the city well known to many chess devotees. On one of these occasions, just prior to his departure for St. Petersburg to play Dr. Steinitz for the championship, a fussy old gentleman offered to play him for a box of cigars if he would concede him the odds of a queen. The offer was good naturedly accepted, and on Lasker's winning he became the recipient of a box of doubtful looking cigars, which, however, the donor averred were of good quality. On visiting the same restaurant after easily defeating Steinitz, Lasker happened to meet his late opponent, who asked him what he had thought of the cigars. "First rate," replied the champion; "in fact, I might almost say they won me the match." "Indeed! I am delighted to hear it," returned the old gentleman, much pleased. "Yes," continued Lasker, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "I gave them all to Steinitz!"—London Answers.

A Curious Barometer.

A curious barometer is said to be used by the remnant of the Araucarian race which inhabits the southernmost province of Chile. It consists of the cast-off shell of a crab. The dead shell is white in fair, dry weather, but, indicating the approach of a moist atmosphere by the appearance of small red spots, as the moisture in the air increases it becomes entirely red and remains so throughout the rainy season.

TROTTERS AND PACERS.

Walter King, 2:16, is going to England.

Old Hal Pointer is doing half mile rings.

There are several high class 3-year-olds paces out this year.

George Starr will drive the East View farm horses in their races.

Thornless, 2:15½, now 19 years old, is campaigning in the west.

Jasper Ayres, 2:14½, is counted the best trotter now in California.

Bells Beauty, out of Beautiful Bells, has a colt at foot by Electricity, 2:17½.

The Abbott, 2:11½, holds the world's trotting record for 4-year-old geldings.

Ed Mills thinks there are but three pacers living which can trim Guineet.

Raven lately placed the Erie (Pa.) track record at 2:12. Oddity forced her to it.

Manager, 2:06½, is out after a let up of three years. He has all his old time speed.

Dione, 2:15½, Hickok's only race winner in 1896, is in training out in California.

Hair-at-law is not only a race horse of the first water, but is a successful sire of speed.

Barney Demarest has driven the 3-year-old trotter Chanty, 2:34½, a mile in 2:15½.

Medonias, 2:30, by Pilot Medium, dam Mercedes, by Masterlode, died at Traverse City, Mich.

The market prices for Oregon horses for canning are $3.50 for 2-year-olds and over and $1.50 for yearlings.

Cayuses are recommended as suitable horses for Japanese cavalry. They are selling for $1 each in the north Pacific.

Claymontas, 2:11½, whose record was made as a 4-year-old in 1894, died recently. He was a pacer of old school breeding.

Some people think that John E. Madden's colt Hamburg is even a better one than the colt's sire, Hanover, was at the same age.

Thomas Harrison, recently appointed United States minister to Egypt, is the owner of Brigoli Wilkes, 2:14½; Sabienet, 2:22½; and Villiers, 2:27½.

FADS OF FASHION.

Sashes are in very general demand, and as they are becoming to almost all figures are likely to continue in popularity.

A stylish and popular cape extends about as low as the elbows. It is quite full, the fullness being usually of straight widths gathered into a yoke.

Among the pretty models for dresses is a narrow yoke with a sharp point back and front. Below the yoke in front is a loose belt, which is tucked into a belt.

A fashion which sometimes seems to become quite popular is that of pyjama cords. This is a short lived style and is by no means suitable for elegant materials.

Elaborateness is being displayed in the make up of sleeves. Many of them are composed entirely of lace and insertion, others are tucked round and round and others are covered with rows of trimming.

One of the handsomest waists of the season is made of white china crepe. It has vest collar and cuffs of white satin and a stock collar and bows of white ribbon. It is worn with a skirt of black satin made plainly.

A novelty cape has a yoke of brocade velvet. This yoke has long tabs of the same material that fall over ruffles of accented plaited Japanese ermine. The shoulders have shawl shaped sections outlined with bands of velvet.

It seems to make less difference this year just what you wear than how you wear it. In fact, some of the 6 cent laws and dainties make as pretty and stylish dresses as one could wish for. It is the way they are made and the fashion of wearing them.

Dresses of muslin, organdie and batiste have the ruffles edged with narrow lace. There may be but one or several ruffles on the skirts, and they are set either in clusters at the foot or at regular intervals, covering about half the length of the skirt.—New York Ledger.

STAGE GLINTS.

George Burnold is having a successful tour in New Zealand.

Mrs. Potter and Kyrie Bolow have sailed for England from Sidney, Australia.

Mason Mitchell will manage Walker Whiteside, "the young Roscius," next season.

Victor Maurel will probably return to this country for a series of recitals next fall.

Anna Held is to have the principal part in "La Poupée" at the New York Olympia.

Engene Casfield and George Richards are to try staving again next season in "My Boy," a new farce.

Henry M. Pitt will soon appear at the vaudeville theaters in a piece called "A Miser's Grandchild."

Alice Pierce, who made a hit last season with Richard Mansfield, has been engaged by Berthold Tree.

A dramatization of Captain King's "Fert Frayne" may be among the early productions this fall in Chicago.

Julia Marlowe may act in London next winter in the Clark translation of Goethe's "For Bonnie Prince Charlie."

Ellen Terry charges 25 cents for her autograph and gives the money to endow a child's bed in an English hospital.

Afrid Mansfield, a nephew of Richard Mansfield, has been playing with considerable success in "Trilby" at the Ramegate theater, London.

THIS IS NOT FLATTERY.

Professor Elliott Fries once put that in John W. Foster.

Cleveland, Aug. 8.—Professor Henry W. Elliott read the following in New York with John W. Foster, the commissioner sent by President McKinley to England to confer with Lord Salisbury relative to the Panama canal matter and replied hotly to Elliott's attack on regarding the channel which he attacked Elliott to write his two recent letters. He said: "So Mr. John W. Foster has nothing to say in answer to my direct charge of his being the president an untruth about myself. Well, perhaps that is the best thing for him to do. I suppose he is in my possession the black and white evidence that he has violated the fourth commandment. He has borne false witness against his neighbor. When I call attention to this fact he is vaguely about my 'attitude' and my 'status'."

"The American people have had a glut of this absurd tomfoery over the far seals, and the prospect of having it strung out over two or three years longer under the lead of this incompetent man is enough to sicken them. I predict that they will not stand the shame and imposition."

"I have always been under the impression, and am still, that a man convicted of bearing false witness against his neighbor is not a fit man for association in the private or official life of American citizens."

"There is more under this than I can or desire to mention at the present moment. This fine amiable Mr. Hamilton who is now associated with Mr. Foster said to me in 1894 that the (then) Foster associate told me that you had sold your report to the British, but, my dear Mr. Elliott, you know that we have never believed it."

"I intend to get the proof of this action on the part of Foster and his associates, and then I shall add another indictment disqualifying him from running the state department so as to discredit and injure American interests and defend American citizens."

Murdered His Wife.

Bordentown, Aug. 8.—A wife murder was committed at the village of Bordentown, near here. While Anna Robinson, 31, was sleeping in her bed, with two children nodding on her bosom, her crazy husband, James Robinson, cut her throat. Then he drew the razor across his own throat, cutting a deep but not fatal gash.

Death of an Actor.

Chester, Pa., Aug. 8.—William Campbell of New York, known as "Whitey Campbell," an actor, died suddenly at the Pennsylvania railroad station here. He had come from his home to fill an engagement at a local park, and became ill some after beginning his journey. Death was due to pneumonia.

A Fast Trip.

New York, Aug. 8.—The British oil tank steamer Potomac, which arrived made the passage from London to this port in 10 days and 22 hours. This is the best time ever made by a tank steamer between London and New York.

RECALLED BY TELEGRAPHER

Attraction of a Scene in a Play Suggests a Story.

When "Secret Service" was first produced in New York, the audiences for the first week or two included a large number of telegraph operators, attracted by the vivid description given of the scene in which Gillette sends the message and is shot through the hand. Interest in this part of the play waned slightly, so far as the knights of the key were concerned, when it was found that the telegraphing, while it seemed very real to the uninitiated, was nothing but a succession of meaningless clicks.

Why it was expected that there should be real telegraphing any more than there should be real killing on the stage was explained by an old operator recently. "There lingers in the mind of all the older men in the business," said he, "the memory of the telegraphing scene in Oliver Doud Byron's play, 'Across the Continent,' in which a genuine operator was substituted for the actor long enough to tick out a welcome to any member of the profession who might be in the audience. It was at Mrs. John Drew's old Arch Street theater in Philadelphia, about 15 years ago. Every night the man on the stage would spell out: 'Good evening, boys! If you are all feeling well, rap out an answer on the iron support of the seat in front of you. All together, now—one, two, three, Go!'"

"The rest of the audience were bewildered by the ticking all over the house, and it was great fun for the boys and a shrewd move on the part of the management, for it attracted telegraphers in great force. They enjoyed the puzzled expression of the people, who couldn't understand the unanimity of the answer from the gallery, orchestra and lobby. Of course no talk between the stage and the house was not confined to this salutation. It was on all sorts of topics, usually in the form of an interrogation, with a request for a simultaneous answer. The story has been told to the younger men, and whenever a play is produced in which a telegraph key figures they like to see if the experience will be repeated."

INDIANA OIL PRODUCTION.

A summary of the new Indiana oil field production, says a dispatch from Anderson, shows that it is 836 barrels daily, or at present already equal to that of the old Montpelier field. Indications are that the daily output will be doubled by wells which will be drilled in during the next week. The Standard has begun the construction of a $250,000 pipe line and pumping station into the new field. The main line will connect with the Montpelier-Tulsa main lines. The Outfalls, of Chicago, are also making preparations to enter the new field. Many operators are holding oil for prices to go up. In Indiana oil is now at 43 cents, the lowest point ever touched. This is attributable to the Standard's methods.

Warning—Take Notice.

Instructions were received yesterday by Porter & Son, the factory agents of the John Church Co., in regard to the plectrophone attachment, which the John Church Co. controls in the United States. It seems that other piano manufacturers are using and selling these attachments and are going to get into trouble on account of it. Here is a United States supreme court decision that is of interest to every man who makes, buys or sells pianos, with attachments of any kind, separate attachments or any of the whole line of small goods where imitations are liable to arise. Bear in mind it is a decision by the court of last appeals, the United States supreme court. It was rendered in a suit of Hawes vs. Washburn, a suit in which the plaintiff won an action against defendant for using a patented article which he had purchased from another.

It is an infringement to make though never used.

It is an infringement to use though made by another.

It is an infringement to sell though made by another.

Innocent use is none the less an infringement. —Musical Courier, Feb. 27, 1897.

Every point in the above finding applies directly to manufacturers who make, to dealers who sell, and to customers who purchase pianos with attachment infringing the Everett Piano Co.'s plectrophone.

Porter & Son have instructions to proceed against all persons who sell or who use the plectrophone attachment unlawfully. They mean business and will commence action at once against all infringers.

THE CLOSING SALE STILL CONTINUES.

Unbounded enthusiasm greets the offers made by the management of the Mammoth in these closing days of the sale. There is a saving on every suit purchased at the Mammoth. The extent of the saving can be seen by comparing the present and past price marks on the goods. The bargains are the biggest ever before offered in the city of Lima. No such bargains will ever be offered again, simply because no merchant, who is in business, will care to sacrifice his stock in an attempt to duplicate the matchless offers made by the Mammoth.

SEEING IS BELIEVING.

Standing on the solid foundation of facts; knowing that no person can controvert this statement, the Management of the Mammoth is able to offer to the people of Lima

VALUES THAT WILL EVER BE GRATEFULLY REMEMBERED.

The people ask that the good work continue. They say they have never before had such opportunities to save money. For the purpose of gratifying their wishes the sale will be continued until the last dollar's worth of goods has left the store. The time, however, is short. The proprietor of the Mammoth intends to get out of the clothing business and he will not wait much longer. Until the stock is cleared out the same low prices will prevail. The list is as follows:

MEN'S CLOTHING.

JOHN BROWN'S GRAVESTONE

A Epitaph (Herald) Describes the Inscription on the Headstone of John Brown.

The inscription on the headstone which marks the place where John Brown's body lies mouldering in the grave was cut by a Kansas man. B. A. Barrett for many years a marble worker, but now a druggist of North Topeka, did it.

"How well do I remember dressing down the stone and cutting the inscription," said Mr. Barrett. "It was in January, 1880, about six weeks after John Brown had been hung. At the time I was running a tombstone establishment at Wadham's Mills, Elba county, N. Y., 35 miles from the Brown homestead, near North Elba. Mrs. Browne engaged me to do the work while she was at our place on Christmas at tending an abolition celebration given in her honor. She told me that she had a suitable stone and that I could come up there and do the work.

"Two weeks later I went there. I found resting against the side of the little farmhouse an old tombstone bearing the name of John Brown. It was not the John Brown of abolition fame, but his grandfather, an old Revolutionary soldier. The slab had been removed from the grave of the grandfather to make room for a monument, and John Brown took it home. He told his family that he wanted it to mark his grave. The stone was a soft, freestone slab about 3 feet high, 20 inches wide and 3 inches thick.

"The weather was intensely cold, and I had to work in the kitchen. I was just a week at the job, and the Brown family, what was left of it, watched me work all the time. There was no verse or anything on the stone. Mrs. Brown wanted to put one on, but when we measured up we found that it would take all the space to give the names and dates of birth and death of John Brown and his four sons. Brown's name was placed at the top, and the sons came next in the order of death.

"I tell you they fed me well that week. Never had better eating in my life, but I will tell you confidentially that the hospitality of the Brown family was about the only redeeming feature. None of them would ever be selected to participate in a beauty show. As a whole, I never saw a more ugly lot of women, but they were kind in disposition, and that covered a multitude of shortcomings. Mrs. Brown was a very large, masculine woman, with coarse features, but she did know how to cook.

"I returned to my home after completing the work. The stone was not set during the winter, but I was up to another abolition celebration on July 4 the same year and saw the stone at the head of the grave. Brown is buried on his farm, not in the North Elba cemetery.

"No, I did not cut the inscription on the big boulder at the foot of the grave. That was done by Andrew J. Daniels, who learned his trade under me. When I enlisted in the army, he took charge of the shop. In the spring of 1865 he went out to the Brown farm and did the lettering on the boulder. The rock is about the size of an ordinary house, and it stands at the foot of the grave, or perhaps it would be better to say that the grave stands at the foot of it.

"I have read the various stories written of John Brown and his burial. Some were true, but more were not. I never cared to rush into print, however, about them. I do know that Major Hudson's story of the burial is correct. I had charge of the hearse for the vicinity of Westport at the time, and they tried to get me to take it and haul Brown's body to North Elba. The roads were bad, and the country was the roughest you ever saw. They hauled the corpse from Westport to North Elba in an old spring wagon."—Kansas City Journal.

In "The Dungeons of Old Paris," the author, Tighe Hopkins, tells the following Marshal Ney story:

"A ghostly souvenir of 1815 may give us pause for a moment. There is no need to rehearse the story of Marshal Ney, bravest of the sons of France, Napoleon's le brave des braves, whose surpassing services in the field might have spared him a traitor's end. A few days after he had 'gathered into his bosom' the bullets of a file of soldiers in the Avenue de l'Observatoire, behind the Luxembourg, the public prosecutor, M. Bellart, was entertaining at dinner the great men of the bar, army and society. At midnight the door of the inner salon was suddenly thrown open and a footman announced, 'Le Marechal Ney!'

"M. Bellart and his guests, smitten to stone, looked dumbly toward the door. The talk stopped in every corner, the music stopped, the play at the card tables stopped. In a moment the tension passed. It was not the great marshal nor his astral. It was a blunder of the footman who had confounded the name with that of a friend of the family, 'M. Marechal Aine'.

East of Come to This

"Hullo, old boy, waiting for some body?"

"Yes, my wife. I expect her on the next train."

"Ben away long."

"Only a week."

"Kloped with a Frenchman this time, didn't she?"

"I believe so. I can't keep track of them all. And, between ourselves, I'm getting just a little bit tired of it."

"Tired of what?"

"Of this reconciling business."

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

For years I have been a sufferer from chronic constipation and dyspepsia. I tried different doctors and all the remedies I could hear of, but nothing helped me and I grew worse. A lady recommended Carter's Catarrh Cure to me, and I decided to try it, and am very thankful that I did, for it completely cured me; my friends were astonished, for they thought I would never be any better. I take great pleasure in recommending it, for I know of others whom it has helped as well as myself.

She ought to know girl babies are the style this year. Look at the Harrison baby, the Carnegie baby and the Schofield baby. —Judge.

Mother Almost Worn Out—Hands Colic Cure Gave Instant Relief.

BELL BROOK, O., March 25, '96.—

Dr. Head—'I received your sample bottle of Colic Cure and was never so glad in my life. My baby had the wind colic ever since she was born and I was almost worn out. I gave her a dose without my husband's knowledge and it gave her instant relief, and she has not been the least trouble since I gave her the first dose. I would not be without it for anything. I will recommend your Colic Cure to every mother. Mrs. J. C. Wade.' Sold by all druggists, 25c.

CISCO'S HOODOOD CARPET.

How and Well Until the Mystery Had Been Investigated.

"I was in Nebraska," said the raconteur of the party, "when I got the nearest surprise of my life and learned a whole page in the natural history of the country."

"I was visiting a relative, and, not having much else to do, I took considerable interest in fixing up the place, as much to pass the time away as anything else. The doorway was tiled with flowers and I kept those free from weeds. I watched the Indians going up and down to their teepees, and sometimes smoked a pipe of peace with the old chief. I even whitewashed the fence, having all a tenderfoot's reverence for neat surroundings, and I laid each stick of wood in the limited woodpile—that is not a timber country—in mathematical precision by its neighbor's side.

"There was a bright red piece of carpet in evidence on the back of the house which tormented my New England soul with its inappropriateness. It was much too good to be thrown away and was at variance with the rest of the landscape. The chestnut horse browsing on the edge of the bluff was a bit of color in harmony with the rest, but this flamingo-like carpet was a blot, an irritation.

"Sophie, I said one day to my estimable relative, 'why do you leave that red square out in the sunlight? It will fade and be worthless. Besides it spoils the looks of your nice yard.'

"There is a depression of the ground there that is quite unsightly," she answered, and I saw that she was begging the question. Then I tackled old Cisco, the man of all work.

"Lore a massy, that carpet done hoodooed!" said the old man. 'Ef you watch out, you see dat carpet rise an fall like de waves ob de sea when dere ain't a bref of wind. No, sah, I nebbber meddle wif dat yeah carpet.'

"It was a fact. The carpet did move, and I called old Cisco to help me lift it and had the pleasure of seeing the old fellow take to his heels as if he were chased by wolves.

"Well, then, here goes alone!" I said, and quickly drew the large square of carpet to one side.

"And then the cause of the carpet's moving was evident, for as I withdrew it from the hole it covered myriads of snakes reared their angry heads at me, shaking their deadly rattles and wailing, 'I'm selves together in a column of wriggling, hissing ugliness.

"We are all the creatures of instinct!" I followed old Cisco's example with such rapidity that the column of snakes had not disbanded when I was examining them through glass with an interest that was all the more intense because I was safe.

"That is what you get for meddling," said my relative, laughing, yet with a note of chagrin in her voice. 'I could not manage old Cisco without a hoodoo, and now I shall have to find a new one.'

"Don't," I urged. "No doubt it is the warmth of the sun on the carpet that attracts the snakes from the hole. They will come back when the carpet is replaced and prove a wholesome terror to the neighborhood."

"Then I went to the postoffice and dictated a telegram calling me home."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Cool and Brave.

Sir Edward Bradford, head of the metropolitan police force of London, had a distinguished career in the army. That he is a man of great courage and coolness is proved by the manner in which he lost his left arm. Years ago, while still an officer in India, Sir Edward Bradford was a very keen sportsman, with a strong liking for that most dangerous of all pastimes, tiger shooting. One day, while engaged in this hazardous diversion, he fired at a tiger, which, only wounded, charged upon him and bore him to the ground. Never losing his presence of mind for a moment, the intrepid hunter, with a view to preventing the infuriated animal from attacking his head, thrust within its jaws his left arm. The tiger simply gnawed it off, but the life of the cool nimrod was saved by his comrades, who arrived in time to shoot the creature before it had time to inflict any more serious injury upon Sir Edward.—New York Times.

His Money's Worth.

Bowser (reading telegram he has prepared)—How does this suit you: "Cannot come today. Expect us next week. Mother is ill." There's just ten words.

Mrs. Bowser—That's all right, only why not say "Mother is indisposed?"

Mr. Bowser—That wouldn't make it any clearer.

Mrs. Bowser—I know, but it is a longer word than "ill," and we might as well get our money's worth while we are about it.—Boston Transcript.

To Our Friends and Customers.

Workmen

Are now busy building an extension to our store, carpenters are hustling, brick masons are hurrying, plasterers and painters will soon be there to lend a helping hand to complete our new addition—when that is accomplished we will have the best lighted, most comfortable and largest retail store in Lima—our room in fact will be one of the largest in north-western Ohio.

The Arrangement

Of our store will be such that every lady can make her respective purchase with comfort and ease. The interior will all be rearranged to suit the comfort of our customers best.

The New Store

Will be ready to occupy about September first. Our purchase of Fall and Winter goods has been extensive—we don't want you to forget us when you buy your Fall and Winter goods—we want you to come and see us—tell us how you like our new store—meet your friends here—when down town and tired, stop in and rest—you will be given perfect freedom from pressure to buy when visiting the store or looking at goods.

The Handy Entrances.

Two big doors, 233 and 235 North Main street, introduces you directly to the enlarged store, the greatly increased stock and clear light; no stairs to climb; no dingy damp basement to visit; but bright as a new dollar the big store grows; more lustrous as each new brightness is complete; enlarging, improving, providing wider aisles, fixing and furnishing whatever will add celerity, comfort and convenience for the many thousands of our valued customers.

Respectfully Yours,

PLAYED FAST BALL.

Prettiest Game of the Season at Faurot's Yesterday.

MACKEY'S GREAT VICTORY.

Held the Piqua-Midway Men Down to Four Hits and One Earned Run—Lima Won by a Score of 7 to 1—The Indians Here To-day.

HOW THEY STAND

Team	Won	Lost	Percent	Runs

NO-MORROW'S GAMES.

Wapakoneta at St. Marys. Lima at Piqua.

Without a question the game yesterday between Lima and Piqua was the finest exhibition of base ball that has ever been witnessed in the city. This was conceded by all who were present on the grounds yesterday. It was a beautiful game. Not once was its pleasure marred by quarreling between the men of the two clubs or disputes with the umpire. No better game could be desired, and every one who was present left the grounds well pleased with the contest.

To the Lima rooters the result was especially pleasing, since Murray's men won and thus were placed at the head of the league. It is now believed that Murray's men will hold that place until the 26th of September, when the last game of the north-western league will be played.

Yesterday's game was Lima's. Of the five runs placed to her credit four of them were earned, while the Piqua boys had only one earned run. To Piqua it was a sad defeat, but it could not be prevented.

The Lima boys had their eagle eyes with them, and the way they landed on the famous Albrock's curves made the lined off boys wonder what they had run against. The Piqua boys, several of whom had played in Lima before, were all big men and one of them was heard to remark before the game: "Oh, this team of Murray's will be easily shelved." But why they forgot to shelve the deponent sayeth not.

Mackey went into the box for Lima. He was never seen to demore beautiful work. He was steady, accurate and had the lined off boys at his mercy. His curves were quick and deceptive and the flat bats of the visitors were unable to land the ball safely for more than four hits. Wherever they landed the ball there was some one there with a mit. It was discouraging, but it could not be helped.

The in and outfield did grand work. The infield played an errorless game with one exception and the work of the outfield was perfect.

The work of Burt and McCarty could not have been improved. Hunter had no chances.

Sealts caught a beautiful game and kept the visitors close to first. His catch of a foul ball in the second inning was loudly applauded from the grand stand.

Without a question Lima has the best batting team in the league. Albrock, the visitors' famous pitcher, was almost put out of the box. Murray's men hit the sphere for twelve safe hits.

In the first inning the first three men up were retired, but the second inning was different. Covert was the first man at the bat; two balls and two strikes had been called. The fourth ball came dancing towards the plate. There was a swing; a slight noise. Houtz was next seen waving his hands frantically at the heavens. The sphere passed twenty feet over the top of the fence and was almost lost. Covert was encircling the bases and Lima scored her first run. The crowd tried to keep quiet, but they felt too good to restrain their feelings.

In the next inning both sides failed to score. In the fourth, Burt hit safe and made a beautiful steal to second. Covert was next at the bat, and the crowd wanted him to do again as he had done before. He singled. Burt had led off well and when the ball was hit he started home and scored.

In the fifth, Mackey hit for a two-bagger, McCarty singled and Mackey scored. Hunter and Burt both picked a safe spot to place the ball, and McCarty also scored. Covert hit a ball clear to the fence and all believed it another home run, but Houtz was there and made a beautiful catch.

For the visitors Houtz got a base on balls. Sealts threw the ball to second, but through a misunderstanding no one was there. Houtz went to third and later scored.

In the sixth neither side added to their score, but in the seventh McCarty got first, Hunter placed the ball for a two-bagger, and Covert also hit for two bases. McCarty scored, but Hunter was put out at the base by a beautiful throw from left field.

In the other two innings Lima was satisfied to rest. In the eighth Piqua got an earned run; Albrock made a two-bagger, Thorp singled and scored the runner. But that was sufficient, and the next two men were retired.

In the visitors' last half only four balls were tossed, three men flew out and the story was told.

Lima was honestly and fairly and the people were more than pleased.

NOTES.

Wapak is playing here this afternoon.

Mackey had the old time leaguers guessing.

Delehaasty made a phenomenal catch of a foul ball in the first inning.

The Webster Giants and Stars will contest for honors at Faurot's park to-morrow.

Covert's home run set the audience wild. This is the second home run for our "Bill."

The infielders all played a great game and fielded ball deeper than most infielders.

Piqua has no Sunday games. Lima has a game at home every Sunday except one.

Burt's catch of Brandenburg's long fly in the ninth was one that was loudly applauded.

The Lima Clippers defeated the Wapak Victors at Wapak yesterday by a score of 19 to 8.

McCarty made a beautiful catch and throw to home in the eighth inning and prevented two runs.

Murray ran back and made a beautiful catch in the fifth inning. Everyone thought the hit a safe one.

The grand stand and bleachers yesterday were crowded with as orderly a crowd as was ever seen at the park.

"Doc" O'Brien's umpiring gave complete satisfaction. Not one objection was raised concerning his decisions.

The flat bat of the Piqua professionals was soft and plunky. They had better use the regulation round club; that's what Murray's men use.

Covert received a hard blow from Keefe yesterday and was stunned for a moment, but he was game, and after "rubbing" his neck resumed playing.

Roger Brennan and J. Brennan will be the battery to-day. Roger is doing excellent work in the box, and no catcher in the league plays his position better than does his brother.

The machinists defeated the tailors at Frush's park yesterday, by a score of 19 to 16. Batteries for machinists—Polser, Baker and Leist; tailors, Arm, Lyons and Sullivan. Struck out—by Baker, 11; by Leist, 3; Lyons, 4.

Frank Mitchell's club defeated the '98 Dents in a one-sided game. Score: F.M.C. 123456789 R E S; Dents 3 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0.

Batteries—F.M.C., McNairy, McDonald and Mitchell. Dents—Bynum and Hard. Frank Mitchell's club will play Baxter's club to-morrow.

The Piqua club was the most gentlemanly set of players that has contested with Murray's men this season. No insulting or improper language was heard from any of them.

Cassell, of St. Marys, would do well to take lessons from Piqua's behavior; his language generally is foul and insulting and should not be tolerated even in a game where there are no spectators.

A WEST NEWTON COUPLE

Married at the Court House this Morning by Justice Mowen.

A wedding occurred in the private office of probate judge Robt this morning. The bride was Ida Turner and the groom was Robt Underwood. The couple entered the judge's office and both had that peculiar expression on their faces that is so characteristic of young people about to be wedded. The young lady blushed, while her lover asked deputy Miller for a license to wed. Justice Mowen in the meantime had been seen and made his appearance soon after the issuing of the license. To the lovers from West Newton this was the most important moment of their lives.

Justice Mowen assumed a solemn and ministerial air and with a few impressive words made them man and wife. The groom smiled and won. Deputy Miller offered his congratulations and kissed the bride, after which the happy couple left the palace of justice for their home at West Newton.

Mrs. John Brice

will recite a "St. Paul's Defense Before Agrippa" at the Apostles' church chapter at the Episcopal church this evening.

HEAD CRUSHED.

Herman Clafin Killed by a P. Ft. W. & C. Train.

WAS ASLEEP ON THE TRACK.

The unfortunate Man Was Employed in this City and Had Gone to Delphos to Visit His Family—Railroad News of Interest.

Herman Clafin, of Delphos, who had been employed at Guthrie Bros. brick yard on west McKibben street, this city, was struck and instantly killed by east bound passenger train No. 5, on the P. Ft. W. & C., at Delphos, early yesterday morning.

Clafin was here Saturday night until, it is thought, about midnight, when he boarded a freight train and went to Delphos, intending to spend Sunday there with his family. He had evidently indulged in considerable liquor and instead of going to his home after the freight train arrived at Delphos, he laid down on the railroad track and fell asleep. The engineer on train 5 saw him lying with his head upon one of the rails of the main track as the train rounded the curve and neared the depot, but the engine was already too close to the prostrate form of the sleeping man to be stopped in time to save the life, and without ever awakening to realize his danger Clafin was hurled into eternity. The pony trucks of the engine struck his head and almost divided it into halves. The accident occurred about 5 o'clock Sunday morning, train 5 being late when it reached Delphos.

The body of the unfortunate man was removed to an undertaking establishment and mayor D. E. Baxter, of Delphos, was summoned to perform the duties of coroner, after which the sad news of the fatal accident was broken to the deceased's wife and three children, who live on the west side of Delphos.

The deceased was 38 years of age and was well-known in this city.

INSULTING AND OFFENSIVE.

Several young men of this city who, apparently, have nothing to do but look "pretty," have been making themselves offensive both to passengers on the C., H. & D. trains and to those employed about the C., H. & D. station. They are accustomed to be about the depot about the time of the arrival of trains and try to flirt with ladies on the trains. This has become exceedingly offensive and even insulting in many cases and the officials intend to make an effort to have this practice stopped.

NOTES.

Traveling engineer Miller, of the C., H. & D., is in the city.

Switch engine 26, of the L. E. & W., is in the round house for repairs.

Brakeman Steel, of the L. E. & W. west local, has reported for work again.

Harry Anders, the P., Ft. W. & C. operator, returned from Chicago to-day.

Assistant yard clerk Bickell, of the L. E. & W., will go to Indianapolis to-morrow.

Conductor Goosen, of the L. E. & W., is running conductor Thomas Strohl's car on the east end.

Conductor Thomas O'Donnell, of the L. E. & W., has resumed his car, after a few days' illness.

Conductor A. M. Johnson, of the L. E. & W., is laying off. Extra conductor Mike Deusen is running his car.

Fireman A. V. Feightner, who has been in the yard service at Lima for some time, is sick and a man was sent down yesterday to relieve him.—Ft. Wayne Sentinel

IN MAYOR'S COURT

Mr. and Mrs. George Barber Air Their Troubles.

THE GREEN EYED MONSTER

Caused the Rumpus—Two Prisoners Fined and Another Sentenced to the Work House—Woman Arrested for Drunkenness.

There were several cases for disposal in mayor Baxter's court, this morning, and one of the most deplorable was that of an unhappy man and wife who were arrested yesterday afternoon, each having a complaint against the other. They were Mr. and Mrs. George Barber and it was not their first appearance in police court. They live neighbors to Mrs. William Crossen, and yesterday afternoon Mrs. Barber accused her husband of hanging over the fence and looking over at Crossen's. Then the trouble began. Mrs. Barber says that her husband started into a house to slap her and Barber claims that his wife commenced smashing up his plasterers' tools. Policeman Smalley arrested them and they spent the night at the police station. They aired their grievance before mayor Baxter for some time and the latter finally dismissed them with instructions to behave as man and wife should.

Anna Reynolds, an Evansville, Ind., woman who is employed at Kate Lawrence's place as a domestic, was locked up by patrolman Seeds Saturday night, for drunkenness. She spent Sunday in the women's department at the city prison, and told the mayor this morning that she had drunk two "whiskies" and that they went to her head. The mayor thought Lima could get along without her, and she was advised to return to Evansville.

George Downey, arrested for disorderly conduct, was fined $2, which was paid.

A. B. Kennedy, arrested for drunkenness, was discharged.

John Suttan, of Zanesville, who was employed on the Spring street improvement, paid a fine of $2 and was released.

John Elwood, who claimed to be from Toledo, was sentenced to two days in the city workhouse for drunkenness. He had a physician's hyperdermic instrument which he claims to have found on the street here. The owner can recover this at the police station.
